To Whom It May Concern,

Orlaith Coleman started in the graduate program in Capgemini Sogeti Ireland in 2019 and we quickly identified her as a standout performer. We offered her full time position and placed her on site, with a client, with one of our Analytics teams. Initially we placed her onsite to gain experience but the client also seen the value and offered to pay for her to ensure that she continued to work in that team.

Orlaith had great communication skills, picked up the technical aspects of the role quickly and quickly gained confidence with the team and clients alike. We were very sorry to see Orlaith leave Sogeti but hope that she might consider returning at some stage in the future. I would recommend her for any position and would be confident that she would add value to any company or team quickly.

I wish Orlaith the best in her future career and would be more than happy to give a personal reference over the phone.

Regards,
John
